

Alex started out the year in the HUGE All City Band in the Rose Parade. Did you spot his 2 seconds on national television? He was the blonde on the end.

Monster may be old, but she still loves the snow. It was so deep we had to dig steps up over the snow bank at the front door of the cabin.

In Colonial Williamsburg, Margie finally got the boys in a spot where they would have to listen to her full lecture on leaving dirty socks in the living room.

After 20 years with the city of Carson (where the blimp lives), Barry finally managed to get a blimp ride. Yes, it was very, very cool. It holds six passengers and has no seat belts.
